DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by USPN 4,724,222 to Feldman. Feldman describes (column 6, lines 11-19) a concave wafer chuck used with an energy beam apparatus. The intended use does not impart patentability to the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of USPN 5,907,770 to Yamazaki et al and in view of USPN 4,724,222 to Feldman. AAPA discloses (in the Specification, the "Description of the Related Art", and Figures 2 and 3) well known laser annealing apparatus, but do not describe the means for expanding and condensing the beam or the cylindrical shaped stage. Yamazaki et al describe an excimer laser. Yamazaki et al show (Figures 13 and 14) well known cylindrical lens means for expanding and condensing the beam and the use of well known beam modification apparatus would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because the means for expanding and condensing provide energy for annealing silicon. Feldman describes (column 6, lines 11-19) a concave wafer chuck used with an energy beam apparatus. The use of the concave chuck surface would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because the curved surface provides precise relationship with a reference surface for high-resolution patterning techniques.

With respect to the particular claimed equations, the ranges disclosed in the instant Specification (DETX (51), [0104]-[0105]), focal length (f2) parameters are listed from 2200 mm to 8800 mm and range of radius of curvature parameters are listed from 9000 mm to infinity. The prior art apparatus can be adjusted to fall within this range and the use of a concave wafer chuck therewith would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art in order to be able to make high-resolution patterns.

Response to Arguments

In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

In response to applicant's argument that the claimed equations impart patentability to the apparatus, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ye et al describe "conventional laser or electron beam patterning equipment".

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
